

I believe the telemarketers to be an invasion of privacy and a general nuisance. To not allow individual states to block these calls from citizens who request them to be blocked seems to be an example of the federal government overstepping its boundaries.